CANS OF TEA AND COFFEE!

The MERCHANTS TEA COMPANY of Chicago, has opened a Branch Store at No. 251 First street, between Main and Madison. Their Tea and Coffee are packed in paper cans, the tea, can and contents weighing about 1½ lbs.; the coffee, can and contents weighing about 3 pounds. Every can contains a souvenir, such as Solid Gold, Silver and Nickel Watches; also Genuine Diamonds, Rubies, Sapphires, Emeralds, Pearls and other Jewels.

This company has adopted this method of advertising their Choice Brands of Tea and Coffee, but after twenty days they will be sold only on their merits, at the same price, same quality and same quantity, but without the souvenir, the goods being worth the price asked at fair valuation without any regard to the souvenirs.

This company has established seventy-six branches in various parts of the United States, none of which are now giving the souvenirs in the cans of Tea and Coffee, as the time has expired, yet each agent has a large and rapidly increasing trade, as the superior quality of their goods becomes known.

From Eczema.—Ears and Scalp Covered with Scabs and Sores.
Cured by Cuticura.

My little son, aged eight years, has been afflicted with Eczema of the scalp, and at times a great portion of the body, ever since he was two years old. It began in his ears and extended to his scalp, which became covered with scabs and sores, and from which a sticky fluid poured out, causing intense itching and distress, and leaving his hair matted and lifeless. [illegible] the scalp [illegible] like a piece of beefsteak. [illegible] My friends in Peabody [illegible] I took him to the hospital and to physicians in Peabody without success. [illegible] His hair is restored, and is thick and strong, and his scalp as sweet and clean as any child's in the world. I [illegible] express my gratitude for this wonderful cure by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and wish all similarly afflicted to know that my statement is [illegible] without exaggeration.
CHARLES McKAY, Peabody, Mass.

Gladstone Makes a Triumphal Journey to Scotland.

A BRIEF SPEECH AT LEICESTER.

Goschen Issues his Manifesto to the Electors of Edinburgh—A French Gun Boat Seizes the New Hebrides—Etc.

LONDON, June 17.—Gladstone started this morning for his Scotch campaign. He was accompanied by Mrs. Gladstone. Thousands of people congregated at the railway station to witness his departure. The crowd was simply enormous. It seriously blocked and delayed the approach of the premier's carriage. When Gladstone finally succeeded in reaching the station platform he found it packed with people, who welcomed him with enthusiastic cheering. At last he reached his seat in the special coach assigned for his conveyance. The window at his side was open and when the crowd saw him through the window it set up another cheer, which was repeated several times. The people appeared desirous of having the premier address them with some parting words before going away on his errand. He rose and spoke from the coach window. He thanked the people for the honor of their extraordinary demonstration. He acquired them to allow no time to hide from them the [illegible] question of the hour. Attempts have been made, said the venerable orator, to divert your attention from the real question. This question is solely whether Ireland [illegible] be trusted to manage her own affairs. Those who deny Ireland that right admit that Canada and other British colonies enjoy such rights. Are we to trust our fellow subjects in Ireland and govern by love, or are we to adopt a policy of [illegible] by force?

Gladstone then bade the cheerers good by and the train moved away amid enthusiastic and prolonged cheering, accompanying its departure, and hundreds of people waving handkerchiefs and hats and God speeding the premier ran along the platform beside his coach until the train outsped them.

Gladstone drove to the railway station. The carriage was drawn by a pair of horses. It is estimated that fully 10,000 persons were in the crowd that awaited him. The people made most frantic efforts to see the premier and broke down barriers which had been provided to keep them back. A great many men and boys climbed to the top of railway carriages standing in the station and from that elevation cheered Gladstone as he passed them. Gladstone only reached his coach with the greatest difficulty. A squad of police surrounded him and by much elbowing succeeded at last in getting him through the throng masses to a car. The premier wore a tweed suit and an Inverness cape coat. He bowed and smiled and raised his hat incessantly in response to the greetings of the crowd.

REMARKS AT LEICESTER.

At Luton and Bedford crowds at the stations cheered Gladstone as the train sped by. No stop was made until Leicester was reached. Here was an enormous gathering which gave the premier an enthusiastic greeting. A few groans from the outside of the crowd soon discontinued. A committee presented Gladstone with an address expressing confidence in him and his Irish scheme. The premier made a brief reply. After thanking the people for the reception he said: "Time has not allowed me to speak upon the great question before the country to-night. Will you give Ireland what you give the colonies, with the greatest advantage, power to manage not imperial but Irish affairs? During my fifty four years of public life I have never seen enthusiasm everywhere equal to that which has been shown in this great cause. The [illegible] of the world [illegible] upon us in a degree never equaled before. Not only the whole British race but all civilized mankind has testified to the liveliest interest in the question. If, as I have every reason to believe, the verdict will be favorable to the people of Ireland, there will be nothing less than universal joy throughout the civilized world. I place before you this noble object, that an sympathy combined with justice command your deep, deliberate consideration, for you never had an issue to determine more charged with good or evil to the future advancement of this great empire."

The speech was received with wild enthusiasm. The train arrived at Trent ten minutes after 1 and another halt was made. Here, as at other places, huge crowds composed not only of the inhabitants of Trent but people from Nottingham, Ilkeston and every other place near by.

A crowd of immense proportions awaited the train at Galashiels. There is great excitement at Galashiels over the approaching election. The opinions of the people on the Irish question are about equally divided.

Gladstone will speak at Glasgow Tuesday. The meeting will be held in a hall that will hold 5000 persons.

At Leicester the train was drawn past the point where it was expected to stop, causing great confusion. Messrs. Page and Ellis, members of parliament, represented a deputation from the liberal societies. Fully 3000 people were assembled at the depot.

AT EDINBURGH.

Enormous crowds greeted Mr. Gladstone at all towns on the route from Carlisle to Skipton. At Edinburgh 40,000 persons lined the route from the railway station to the hotel and the police had great difficulty in making a passage way for the premier's carriage. Gladstone says he feels no ill effects from his journey and that he is extremely gratified at the reception he has met with at every place he has spoken.

GOSCHEN ISSUES A MANIFESTO.

LONDON, June 17.—Goschen has issued a manifesto to the electors of Edinburgh. He says: "I have said nothing in my speeches which I wish retracted. I deny that there is no alternative between Gladstone's scheme and coercion. I deny that the Parnellites must be the sole arbiters, or that a separate Irish parliament and executive are the only feasible solution of the Irish question. I favor large measures of decentralization relieving the imperial parliament of a portion of its work, but these should always be subject to control of the imperial parliament. I especially object to giving a Dublin parliament control of the police and magistracy, because long standing differences of race, creed and class unfit a partisan government for exclusive and unrestricted power. The imperial parliament would not be authorized in handing a minority, amounting to one third of the population of Ireland, over to the government against which that minority has made a passionate protest. The autonomy of other homogeneous colonies presents no analogy to Ireland, where an important portion of the people, including the best energies of the country, desire imperial connection. Justice to Ireland must include justice to one third of her population. Gladstone's scheme is indefensible in principle and unworkable in practice. It only reserves to the imperial parliament paper supremacy. The adherents of Gladstone do not defend the details of his scheme; they simply maintain the abstract principles of home rule. Therefore their accusation that the opponents of the scheme have no definite alternative recoils on their own heads. But the unionists are willing to extend local powers of self government, equally applicable to England and Scotland, such powers to be always subject to imperial control. No decree for momentary relief, no appeal of party or class, ought to divert the people from defending the supremacy of parliament, which is the real issue at stake."

CIRCULAR TO BRANCH LEAGUES.

LONDON, June 17.—A circular signed by Thomas Power O'Connor, M. P., has been issued to 400 branches of the Irish national league in Great Britain. It orders the formation of election commissions and other preparations for the coming struggle and says explicit instructions to cordially and energetically support Gladstone liberals will be forwarded later.

CHAMBERLAIN.

LONDON, June 17.—Chamberlain in a speech at Birmingham denied that there was any difference in the principles upon which Lord Hartington and himself desired to deal with Ireland.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

DISASTROUS ERUPTION OF A VOLCANO.

NEW YORK, June 17.—The Star's Albany special of the 16th says: John Hotchkiss, a prominent manufacturer of Birmingham, England, has arrived here from Realejo, Nicaragua. He says that the day before he sailed (May 25) there was a terrific eruption from the volcano of Momotombo. Telegraphic information was received at Realejo on the 23d ult. to the effect that the city of Managua, capital of the country, has been practically destroyed by volcanic earthquakes which accompanied the eruption. It was reported there was loss of life, but how great was not known when the Pacific steamer sailed. Telegraphic intelligence from the town at the terminus of the railroad forty miles from Realejo was even more startling. That place was fast being buried beneath hot volcanic ashes and many lives had been lost. The situation at Realejo began to grow somewhat threatening and the departure of the steamer was hastened on that account. Hotchkiss says the fall of ashes increased as the ship left the harbor and they continued to sift down on the decks until the vessel was fully forty miles out. The decks of the ship received a coating [illegible] an inch deep of volcanic ashes before getting beyond reach of the shower.

GERMANY.

PROOF OF LUDWIG'S INSANITY.

MUNICH, June 17.—Among documents which have been submitted to the diet to prove the insanity of the late king Ludwig is a decree of the dead monarch sentencing the ministers to death, copies of which were sent to all the ambassadors of the government, and a decree sentencing a number of ministers to banishment to America. Affidavits of thirty [illegible] have also been submitted in which it is alleged the king [illegible] them by throwing at them [illegible]. There [illegible] to form a cabinet [illegible]. Munich [illegible] persons have been arrested here for distributing pamphlets containing attacks on the Bavarian ministry for alleged suspicious circumstances attending King Ludwig's death.

The German court will go into mourning for a period of three weeks on account of the death of King Ludwig.

The dead king left no will. Dr. Schleiss denies giving an opinion on the king's condition or publishing a report in the newspapers. He says that chronic inflammation of the cerebral membranes justifies the theory of Ludwig's insanity and that the normal condition of the cerebellum explains the faculty of clear judgment possessed by the king in spite of the fact that in other respects his mind was diseased.

FRANCE SEIZES THE NEW HEBRIDES.

LONDON, June 17.—Special advices from Noumea, capital of New Caledonia, received late this afternoon state that the French man of war Dives has returned from the expedition to the New Hebrides. Its officers say that the expedition landed troops and hoisted the French flag over the islands of Sandwich and Malacola. After establishing all the posts deemed necessary for the protection of French interests the residents [illegible] that France had taken possession. Noumea newspapers congratulate France on her annexation of the New Hebrides [illegible] of England and her colonies. New South Wales [illegible] protest [illegible] French annexation.

LONDON, June 17.—In the house of lords this evening Lord Salisbury stated that he would make inquiry to-morrow concerning the occupation by France of the New Hebrides.

NEWS FROM PARIS.

PARIS, June 17.—If the senate passes the expulsion bill, M. Waddington will resign as French ambassador at London and other French ambassadors will do likewise.

The government has submitted to the chamber of deputies a bill to authorize the Panama Canal company to issue its proposed lottery loan.

The senate committee has rejected by a vote of [illegible] proposals for expulsion of the princes.

CONFLICT BETWEEN CHURCH AND STATE.

PARIS, June 17.—Goblet, minister of public instruction, has prohibited the meeting of a church congress arranged to be held at Toulouse. The archbishop of Toulouse protests that the congress is to be devotional and not deliberative and denies that the office of public instruction has power to prohibit its meeting. The archbishop announces that the congress will therefore be held despite Goblet's orders.

OLYMPIA CONSPIRACY TRIALS.

Extracts from a Confidential Circular to "White Card" Socialists.

A Membership of 100,000 Claimed in the United States—Plans for a General Uprising and Confiscation of Property.

OLYMPIA, June 17.—The trial of Montgomery Hetzel, Bates, Gooding and [illegible] on a charge of conspiracy and having taken a prominent part in the anti-Chinese riots of last February in this city began yesterday, as already reported. To-day the prosecution introduced the white card members' confidential circular, from which the following extracts are taken:

"The theory of our movement is the creation in every country of so strong agitation that combination between governments to suppress the revolts [illegible] will be impossible, because of the necessity of looking after their home affairs. The uprising in those lands which are best prepared for success follows, and may be either simultaneous or consecutive. * * * The movement in Europe will be guided by wise heads and careful hands, and of its success we have no doubts whatever. * * * *

"The impression seems to be general that we [illegible] America will occupy in 18[illegible] a place similar to that held by England in 1848, that of the only [illegible] reactionary country. * * * The [illegible] duty of the I. W. A. should be to secure in every town, city and county of the country at least one good socialist who should act as a revolutionary agent in the distribution of propaganda and the [illegible] of converts. If we set actively at work with these ends in view we believe this much could be easily accomplished within the coming year. * * * We do not approve of quarrels with the S. L. P. I. A. A. nor the Henry George men.

"* * The circumstance which may [illegible] decisive action will probably be these: In 1889 the present panic will approach a climax. It will be widespread and alarming, accompanied by closed factories, starving workers, rioting and the use of military force. It may even, by a bitter class feeling, result in a suppression of the rights of free speech, meeting and press. Until then, unless the whole people are aroused, it is the duty of the wise socialist to hold aloof from riots in special localities. The time is not yet ripe for success. We have counted our beads.

AND WE KNOW IT.

"To strike this year would be a useless slaughter of our best people and put back the cause a hundred years. No. At present we must be wise as serpents, but harmless as doves. We must take advantage of it for agitation and education only. We must speak much and act not at all. * * *

"One year of panic means a trebling of our forces at the very least. And while with our present 100,000 American socialists forcible action is impossible, with 400,000 (which the next panic will give us if we manage wisely) we hold the game in our own hands. We have perhaps, until 1889, four years in which to perfect our plans. That year in Europe will surely bring grave results. In America it insures [illegible] another panic, greater, deeper and more widespread than the preceding, will be upon us. Then, and not till then, may we risk a cast of the iron dies. Then may we strike and strike to win. * * * * *

"Once installed in power the revolutionary committee should follow this course of action: Decrees [illegible] as follows should at once be promulgated and enforced:

"Decreed, That private title in fee simple to land, mines and the natural raw materials of production is abolished and the possessory title thereto vested in the commonwealth.

"Decreed, That rent for the use of houses and lands is declared illegal and action for its recovery barred, except that in all cases the landlord shall have the right of demanding compensation for such improvements whose original cost has not been repaid in rent until such time as the cost is so repaid.

"Decreed, That the books wherein the titles of private persons to lands are recorded and preserved by the state be burned.

"Decreed, That personal occupancy and use of any piece of land give a right to tenancy from the state to the occupier as against any other person from [illegible] it, at the pleasure of the state. * * *

"Decreed, That the title to all machinery of production shall vest in the commonwealth and that the individual manufacturers now claiming to own such machinery shall turn such over to the state officials without compensation when it shall appear that the profits have in times past paid back to said owner the first cost thereof. * * * *

"Decreed, That the stock on hand of wholesale and retail dealers is confiscated to the commonwealth without compensation (except as provided in former decree.)

"Decreed, That interest for money be abolished, that money be abolished, that a department of exchange be organized, that cost be declared the limit of price, and * * * the time of labor shall be held of equivalent value to that of any other * * * that until proper statistics are obtained goods shall be sold at 5 per cent. less than the ruling retail price under the old profit system, and wages shall be fixed at a rate equivalent to [illegible] a day. * * * Each center of insurrection having pursued this course, immediately steps should be taken to federate the various localities. Congress should be called and the national organization effected.

"The Pacific coast, by reason of its peculiar position, its natural wealth, its position (so that a [illegible] determined men could isolate it from the rest of the world for months of time), and the revolutionary sentiment already started over the whole area, is [illegible] fitted to be the first to lead in [illegible] when the time for that work shall come." [illegible] final words reads as follows: "[illegible] mutinies of revolution. WASHINGTON.

The House Refuses to Consider the Tariff Bill.

A NUMBER OF BILLS PASSED

An Analysis of the Defeat of Morrison—Cost of Public Documents—The Northern Pacific Forfeiture Bill.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—In anticipation of the [illegible] on the tariff this morning, an [illegible] large number of persons were present when the house was called to order. Gentlemen [illegible] in charge of the [illegible] on the respective sides were kept busily at work and the chief [illegible] of [illegible] upon the floor was the probable fate of the coming motion to consider the Morrison bill.

After the house had transacted some routine business [illegible] stating that there was an understanding that a motion would be made to-day for going into committee of the whole on the tariff, [illegible] Morrison at what hour he intended to make the motion. Morrison replied that it was his intention to make the motion at 1 o'clock.

The house then proceeded to consideration of [illegible] forfeiture bills, being the desire of the committee to reach the bill for forfeiting certain lands granted to Iowa to aid in the construction of railroads, but as bills on the calendar preceding this one had to be laid aside, and as the members demanded a separate vote on each measure, the time was consumed in voting.

MORRISON'S MOTION DEFEATED.

At 1:20 Morrison moved that the house go into committee of the whole to consider the revenue bill. In answer to McKinley he stated that it was to consider the general tariff bill. Thereupon McKinley said he concurred with Morrison in his demand for the yeas and noes and the speaker ordered the clerk to call the roll.

Morrison's motion to go into committee of the whole to consider the tariff bill was defeated; yeas 140, nays 157. The speaker voted for consideration. [illegible] applause greeted the announcement. Morrison gave notice that he would renew his motion Tuesday next, and McKinley stated that the opponents of the bill would be on hand.

The house at 2 o'clock went into committee of the whole on the naval appropriation bill.

Hepburn of Iowa made a speech in reply to that made by Wheeler of Alabama relative to Edwin M. Stanton, and then the committee arose and the house adjourned.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Sawyer offered a resolution requesting the postmaster general to furnish to the senate information as to the additional compensation allowed postmasters under the act of March 3, 1883, for which there is no provision.

Ingalls said that it was not customary for the senate to request a subordinate officer of the government to furnish information, and he hoped the usual word would be inserted. The usual form directs the officer to furnish the information called for. After some debate Sawyer withdrew the resolution.

Ingalls offered a resolution requesting the president, if in his opinion it is not incompatible with public interests, to furnish the senate information as to appointments and removals of clerks embraced within the provisions of the civil service act on January 1, 188[illegible], [illegible] chief clerks and chiefs of divisions. On suggestion of Cockrell, who wanted to amend and enlarge the scope of the resolution, it went over one day.

The senate then proceeded to consideration of bills on the calendar under the five minute debate.

BILLS PASSED.

Among measures passed were the following:

Bill to secure to Cherokee freedmen their proportion of certain proceeds of lands under act of March 3, 1883.

House bill to provide for the sale of the Cherokee reservation in Arkansas.

Bill authorizing the secretary of war to repair the barracks at Fort Robinson and Niobrara, Neb., and those at Fort Russell, Wyo.

Bill to pay to representatives of the government of Great Britain $15,500 to enable that government to indemnify the owners of the British bark Chance for abandoning their whaling voyage in the Arctic ocean in 1871 and rescuing ninety six Americans from shipwreck on the ice.

Bill to provide for one additional assistant adjutant general with the rank of major of cavalry.

Bill authorizing the postmaster general to pay rent for buildings leased as postoffices.

Bill providing for the appointment of an additional secretary of the treasury, to hold office for one year from the passage of the bill.

Bill providing for an inspection of meats for exportation, and prohibiting importation of adulterated articles of food or drink.

Bill authorizing the secretary of the interior to extend the time for payment of purchase money on the sale of the reservation of the Otoe and Missouria tribes of Indians of Kansas.

Bill to grant certain seal rocks to the city and county of San Francisco, Cal., in trust for the people of the United States.

Bill classifying registers and receivers of land offices, and fixing salaries for them according to such classification, in lieu of fees.

Bill to promote the political progress and commercial prosperity of American nations. (This is Frye's bill authorizing the president to invite on behalf of the people of the United States delegates from Mexico and Central and South American republics to Washington October 1, 1887, to meet delegates on the part of the United States to consider such questions and recommend such measures as shall be to the mutual interest and common welfare of the American states.)

The legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was received from the house of representatives and it was referred to the committee on appropriations.

A resolution offered by Cockrell was agreed to, directing the secretary of the treasury to certify to the senate claims of volunteer soldiers adjusted by [illegible] officers of the treasury since the last report of the treasurer. Adjourned.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS.

THE DEFEAT OF MORRISON.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—An analysis of the vote on Morrison's motion to go into committee of the whole for the purpose of considering the tariff bill shows that of 140 affirmative votes, 136 were cast by democrats and 4 by republicans. Three of these republicans are from the state of Minnesota, Messrs. Nelson, Strait and Wakefield, and the fourth, Mr. James, is one of the New York representatives. Of the 136 democrats voting, [illegible] were representatives from the Eastern and Middle states. The Ohio democrats voting for consideration were Messrs. Anderson, Hill and Outhwaite. New York democrats were Adams, Beach, Belmont, Felix Campbell, Hewitt and Mahoney, and Pennsylvania democrats were Scott, Storm and Swope.

Of the 157 negative votes [illegible] were cast by republicans and 35 by democrats. Of the 35 democrats voting in the negative [illegible] came from Southern states as follows: Maryland, Findlay; Louisiana, Gay, Irion, St. Martin and Wallace; Alabama, Martin. Western states contributed eleven negative votes as follows: California, Henley; Illinois, Lawler and Ward; Ohio, Campbell, Foran, Geddes, Lefevre, Seney, Warner and Wilkins. The remaining democratic negative votes were cast by members from New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey as follows: New York, Arnot, Bliss, T. J. Campbell, Dowdney, Merriman, Muller, Pindar, Spriggs, Stahlnecker and Viele; New Jersey, [illegible], McAdoo and [illegible]; Pennsylvania, Boyle, Curtin, Ermentrout, Randall and Sowden.

Mr. Morrison seemed to accept philosophically his defeat on the tariff to-day. He said he was not disappointed in the result and that he had foreseen it for many months, but this was a thing to which the party and the administration were pledged, and he had to make the fight, hit or miss. When asked why he intended to again attempt to call up the bill Tuesday next he said with a smile: "I will give them a chance to repent." But he declined to express any opinion as to whether he expected a change in to-day's result.

OLEOMARGARINE.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Gardiner B. Chapin and S. B. Hubbard of Boston appeared before the senate committee on agriculture to-day in behalf of pure butter. They said the Massachusetts state law was not well enforced, as had been stated by Prof. Babcock.

Col. R. M. Littler, secretary of the Chicago produce exchange, said the statements of two or three scientists who were paid to traduce and vilify agriculture were untrue. The average value of each dairy cow in the United States had decreased $8 since the oleomargarine business commenced, and he put this statement in evidence against the assertion that each animal was worth $3 more because of the value of the fat used in oleomargarine manufacture. He believed 9 per cent. of all oleomargarine was sold fraudulently.

[illegible] of the Chicago stock exchange, Peter Fuller of Chicago and a representative of Hammond & Co. of Chicago gave evidence in support of the views of the oleomargarine people.

THE SUNDRY CIVIL BILL.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Randall to-day reported the sundry civil bill. Under the head of coast and geodetic survey it is provided that no part of the money appropriated shall be available for allowance to civilians or officers, or for subsistence while on duty in the office at Washington, or to officers of the navy attached to a survey, nor shall there hereafter be made any allowance for subsistence to officers of the navy attached to the coast and geodetic survey. Under the head of signal service it is provided that the whole number of second lieutenants appointed and to be appointed from sergeants of the signal corps shall not exceed sixteen and the whole number of enlisted men in the signal corps shall not exceed 470; that no part of the appropriations made for the signal service by this act shall be used for the maintenance and support of a school of instructions nor of the military at Fort Meyer, Virginia. An item of $11,000 is included for fitting up rooms for the civil service commission.

COST OF PUBLIC DOCUMENTS.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Secretary Lamar has transmitted to the senate in reply to a resolution of that body a statement of the number of people employed in the interior department in receiving, folding and distributing public documents, together with their rates of compensation, showing an average of twenty employes at a cost of between $15,000 and $16,000 a year. The secretary says there ought to be established some better system of distribution of the publications of the government. Were the work systematized a saving of $200,000 might be effected annually without impairing results. From $400,000 to $500,000 is expended annually in printing and binding documents for gratuitous distribution by members of congress. It is probable that a much smaller expenditure and fewer documents would meet all reasonable demands on the part of the public.

THE NURSERYMEN.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The American association of Nurserymen elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: President, C. L. Watrous of Iowa; first vice president, M. A. Hunt of Illinois; secretary, D. Wilmot Scott of Illinois; treasurer, A. R. Whitney of Illinois; executive committee, S. D. Willard of New York, [illegible] B. Pearsall of Kansas and [illegible] of Ohio. A resolution was adopted urging the passage of the oleomargarine bill pending before congress.

S. Endicott, Jr., and Miss Endicott.

THE N. P. FORFEITURE BILL.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The house committee on public lands to-day took up the senate bill forfeiting the Northern Pacific land grant, and struck out all after the enacting clause with the exception of the clause subjecting the road to territorial taxation, and inserted the house bill on the same subject now on the calendar.

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS.

THREE MEN KILLED IN A TRAIN DISASTER.

PITTSBURG, June 17.—A special from Pittsburg, Pa., says: The Point creek trestle on the Pittsburg & Western railroad near here was the scene of a terrible railroad accident last night by which three persons lost their lives and another was so badly injured that recovery is doubtful. The axle of the middle car of a long freight train broke just as the train was on the center of the trestle, and the entire train of twenty cars was thrown into the creek forty feet below. A large portion of the trestle work was carried with the falling train. Four of the crew were buried in the falling debris, and the fifth, conductor Kirne, escaped serious injury by jumping. When the wreck was cleared it was found that engineer George Setta and brakemen Steffey and Kase had been killed. Fireman Coughler was still living, but his injuries are believed to be fatal.

A WARNING FROM POWDERLY.

PHILADELPHIA, June 17.—General Secretary Turner of the Knights of Labor, on being shown a secret circular of Powderly's published to-day, acknowledged that copies of the same had been sent to the general assembly and that considerable expense had been incurred to maintain secrecy. He would hereafter urge that all such matters be given to the press at once. In the circular the Knights of Labor are warned against what Powderly considers a plot to pack the convention to be held in the month of October with politicians, and in which he claims to have discovered in a movement which is on foot an effort to disrupt the order by underhand means.

THE NOVA SCOTIA ELECTION.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—The Bulletin's New York special says: A Halifax correspondent says: Just before the last local legislature dissolved a resolution, moved by the premier, was passed, which set forth the disadvantages Nova Scotia was laboring under through the confederation, and the government signified their intention of going to the country for decision of the people on this issue. The election came off yesterday, and the result has astonished the whole dominion. The cry of repeal fairly swept the province. Out of 38 seats the repealers have obtained 31 sure and perhaps more. The cause of the result is business depression, and consequently a desire of a change. Also the superiority of the organization of the repealers and the short time in which their opponents had to canvass the country.

PORTLAND, FRIDAY, JUNE 18, 1886.

EDMUNDS AND THE SENATE.

Ebenezer J. Ormsbee has been nominated for governor by the Vermont republicans and in a state that is good for 20,000 republican majority a nomination is equivalent to an election. Mr. Ormsbee was born at Shoreham, Vt., in 1834, resides at present in Brandon and is a lawyer of respectable attainments. He was a captain in the Twelfth Vermont volunteers during the war, was a member of the general assembly in 1872, represented Rutland county in the state senate in 1878, and was elected lieutenant-governor in 1884. He is not an orator, but he is a man of good sense and excellent intelligence and will make an admirable governor in a state where the executive has nothing to do, little to get, and no power of consequence outside of his veto, and even this power the average governor is afraid to exercise. A wag once moved at a mock session of the legislature that in the interest of public economy the side judges of Vermont be hereafter made of bass wood, and he might have included the state executive without injustice to the average governor's historical record of usefulness. The only significance of the nomination as a matter of general public interest is that Ormsbee is a strong partisan of Senator Edmunds, and was the candidate of the advocates of his re-election to the U. S. senate. The state was really ripe at one time for a revolt against the return of Edmunds had any strong man come forward boldly and offered to organize and lead the insurrection, but ex-Gov. John Gregory Smith, who was appealed to by the anti-Edmunds faction, is a brilliant diplomatist, but a timid fighter. Had he early drawn the Blaine sword and flung away the scabbard he could have made it very warm for Mr. Edmunds, but he would not seize his opportunity as a soldier, and has lost the only chance to realize his darling ambition to enter the senate by his lack of fighting quality. He waited for the apple to drop into his hands without daring to raise a breeze or shake the tree, and the result is that the friends of Edmunds boldly climbed the tree and picked off the apple while the urbane "war governor" of Vermont lay under it with his hands open hoping to catch the prize. The situation is singular. In 1884 Edmunds elected Cleveland by his obstinate refusal to speak for Blaine at a time when a single word from him would have wheeled the New York stalwarts into line. The contest for governor indicates that the malcontent republicans have concluded to condone Edmunds's offense, and yet it is by no means certain that the re-election of Edmunds will not be followed by the renomination of Blaine in 1888. It is a notorious fact that Edmunds refused to speak for Blaine in 1884, and of course he cannot consent to speak for him in 1888 without confessing the error of his conduct in 1884 or recanting his old faith. There is no assurance that he will not refuse to support the candidate in 1888, for, as a Vermont politician puts it, "may he not reasonably say, 'you have sealed with your approval my former inaction and have thus commissioned me to take the same attitude again'?" What safety is there in such a situation? There is not any safety of course, but there has been a very powerful pressure brought to bear from outside influences to persuade Vermont to swallow her spleen and return Edmunds. A Vermont correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune writes:

Will Edmunds be re-elected to the senate next winter? It is not certain yet. I asked a prominent politician of Rutland on Monday what the chances were and he said: "I suppose he will have to go back to Washington."

"Why have to?" I inquired.

"Because," he said, "republicans of other states are believed to insist on it. We feel very sore toward him because of his unquestioned agency in electing Cleveland, when a single word at the right moment would have wheeled the disgruntled stalwarts of New York into line, and we do not think it is safe to overlook that great offense. But if the welfare of the republican party depends upon it we must choke it down and offer ourselves as a sacrifice."

The result of this consciousness of martyrdom to the welfare of the party is an all-enveloping apathy that has settled down like a cloud over the state.

Blaine was never so much beloved and admired in Vermont as he is to-day and republicans here regard his nomination in 1888 as certain as any event of the future can be.

In our judgment Senator Edmunds has seen his best days of influence and usefulness. His conspicuous resistance to Senator Beck's bill making it unlawful for any senator or representative to act as the attorney or agent for any road, which has received a land grant from congress, has opened the eyes of the people to the fact that the Roman virtue from Vermont, that denounced Blaine as the agent of Jay Gould in the senate, is the attorney of more than one railway corporation on the floor of that august collection of corporation counsel. Mr. Edmunds, when he went to the senate in 1866, was not a rich man, not a lawyer of large professional income. He is a very rich man to-day, and is described as among those senators who have always found time while voting on railroad bills to step into the supreme court and argue railroad cases, for fees that amount to a good deal more than their salaries as senators. He is conspicuous among those corporation senators at whom Beck's bill is directed, and vigorously opposes it, because its passage would pare down his professional income to slender proportions compared with its present plethoric condition. Mr. Edmunds has never made so many and so serious political mistakes as he has during the present congress, and he is feeling the result of it in the slow but sure [illegible] of his influence in the councils of the party. The country is to be congratulated if the present congress is [illegible] promise for the future. How low [illegible] it seems when we remember Thad Stevens, with his biting sarcasm and fearless soul in the house, and bluff Ben Wade in the senate. These all are gone, the old familiar faces, and in their places sit acute corporation attorneys, low toned money bags, or republican optimists, good, easy, fat brained fellows, who think "whatever is, is right and what ever is, is right," or will be, and that therefore the only wisdom is the selfish prudence of being angry with nothing or nobody, the wisdom of trying to do nothing but to sit up straight and periodically take your tea without sugar. These optimists are too indolent to be very dangerous, but with them sit a lot of energetic, ambitious greedy, cunning corporation attorneys, men of affairs, men not poetic or philosophical, but practical, utilitarian fellows, who love power and pelf for its own sake, and who will get it by open grapple or by guile. And then there is that lower deep yet, where dwell fellows like Mitchell, who have no law in their heads, no talent at their tongue's end, save the talent for licking the sores of every Lazarus of the lobby that grows fat on the crumbs that fall from the rich corporations' table. Lazarus was abject beggar enough, but the dogs were one step below Lazarus.

A. R. Lyle, of the Wasco, Morrow and Crook representative district, was one of the republicans who disappointed and betrayed his constituents last November by voting for J. H. Mitchell for the United States senate. He was renominated for the legislature, but the tail of that tremendous cyclone, sweeping far up into the Deschutes water shed, has picked him up also, thrashed the ground with him, and deposited his remains in the political cemetery along with the great body of Hipple-Mitchellites of both parties who were within the sweep of that cyclone. Everywhere Mitchell's supporters and adherents in both parties were picked out for slaughter. This election shows his standing with the people of Oregon as no other incident ever did.

While the house of representatives is considering a bill to declare the forfeiture of all lands claimed by the Northern Pacific railroad company along portions of the line not completed before the expiration of the grant, the senate has passed a bill, with but one dissenting vote, declaring forfeiture where the line has not been completed up to the present time. It is to be hoped the house will also pass this bill. It will release the lands along the Columbia river—a matter of great importance to our people. The lands it will release on the Cascade division are mostly mountainous, and of little value except for timber. This bill would be far more equitable to the company than the one reported by the house committee, and the vote it gets in the senate shows that it is regarded as on the whole the fairest thing yet proposed, both for the company and the country.

CROWDING THE PROFESSIONS.

Æsculapius, the mythologic hero of the art of healing, dates back of the Homeric story of Troy, and his genealogy is so dim that two fellows once disputed in our own day whether Æsculapius was the name of a celebrated horse or a celebrated doctor, so they referred this dispute to a third ignoramus who promptly decided that "both were right, since Æsculapius was the name of a horse doctor." Probably the shadowy father of medicine did include animals among the beneficiaries of his benevolent art, and surely there is no disgrace in the broad and sweeping humane skill that would not hesitate to exorcise the lurking devil of pain from man and bird and beast. Indeed, when we remember that during the present year the medical colleges, allopathic, eclectic and other schools in New York city alone have graduated not far from 1000 doctors, it looks very much as if some of them would have to doctor something besides the human family in order to get anything to do. Somebody wrote an essay once entitled "Where do all the pins go to?" and it is a matter for interesting speculation, where do all the doctors go to? There is an evil tendency in America to overstock the professions. In France, which has nearly 40,000,000 of people, about 60 per cent. of the whole population follow agricultural pursuits, 26 per cent. mechanical and 10 per cent. commercial pursuits, while but 4 per cent follow the professions, and yet there seems to be no complaint in France that there are not doctors, lawyers and clergymen enough. And yet in the United States we are filling up the ranks of the professions to a percentage of the whole population nearly or quite double that in France, to the injury of the professions, as well as to the hurt of the community.

This evil of an excessive crop of doctors, lawyers and priests must always prevail as at present until the present false public opinion, that associates more dignity and worth with the professions than with other callings that require intellect and intelligence, is replaced by a sounder and healthier social philosophy. No man need be afraid that intelligence and digested learning, in the shape of thought, will not adorn and ameliorate any calling he may see fit to follow. No man can steal a reputation for either sense or skill by purchasing the livery of any so-called profession. Agriculture and skilled labor languish because of the false sentiment, instilled into so many growing minds, to scorn such callings from a belief that there is a shorter road to permanent public esteem through the name and style of a profession. There may be for an exceptionally rich and gifted mind and heart, but the mass of persons who jump into the professions are not impelled by a soul of furnace heat within, but by a weak idea that it is about the only respectable thing to do, without any thought whether they have any natural taste or talent to help them vindicate the wisdom of their election and make their calling sure. They go into the law, the pulpit or the medical school with something of the same sort of feeling that compels the younger sons of the English nobility to enter the army, the navy, the church or the law, because the tyranny of social custom makes it inevitable that as portionless children there is no other respectable refuge for them.

Whatever learning or accomplishment a man thirsts for enough to be willing to work to win it, is worth having as a matter of self-attainment, no matter what calling in life he chooses, but the men who adopt callings, not because they have any yearning in that direction, but solely because they are weak enough to despise what they do know as less respectable than some calling they do not know, and never can know, since they are in love with its easily won show and not with its bitterly earned substance, these are the men that crowd all professions with loafers, dreamers, saunterers and quacks, that make multitudes of tramping middle men the world over, all because they are taught that the mere cloak of a profession has a certain superficial sheen of respectability separated from any glory that high attainments may confer upon it. The idea is as deceptive as the social folly of supposing that a glorious pedigree, a fine family, or a rich father will supply the absence, in wrestling with the world, of manhood, courage, industry, honesty, energy and honor. If the simple every day philosophy was taught the boys to be honest with themselves so far as this, viz., not to pitch for a profession unless you feel a decided mental bent or bias in that direction. If your soul has a longing or thirst for it very well, but don't pitch for it because society tickets it as "a highly respectable calling." Any upright work that the world wants you can make highly respectable by mastering it. If mental instinct rather than the voice of social opinion decided our callings for us there would be many men happy and useful to-day, who are now unhappy only because they feel they are comparatively useless. Somebody said that beauty is the woman you really love, and so we may say of our lifework, the best work for us, whether it be humble or high, is the work we love best. If we don't love it it is like marrying a beauty that you feel no love for or feel has no love for you, while any honest calling that has your heart is like the woman that has it, always looks fresh and good and new to you. And furthermore to invert the [illegible] saying, if our heart is in our calling we shall find in a practical sense that where our heart is there will be found our treasure also. General Sherman judging by the following story is of the opinion that some fellows get in the army who have no business even in that intensely practical profession. When Sherman was at Atlanta, Ga., some six years ago, a lieutenant of the Twentieth United States infantry, called to pay his respects, while on his bridal tour. "What is your rank, sir?" said Sherman. "Second lieutenant," was the reply. "Well, sir, you ought to be put to work on a farm."

Life and Work of Dr. Muhlenberg. by Anne Ayres.

The Religious Opinions and Character of Washington, by E. C. McGuire.

We accidently overheard the following dialogue on the street yesterday:

Jones. Smith why don't you stop that disgusting hawking and spitting?

Smith. How can I? You know I am a martyr to catarrh.

J. Do as I did. I had the disease in its worst form but I am well now.

S. What did you do for it?

J. I used Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It cured me and it will cure you.

S. I've heard of it and by Jove I'll try it.

J. Do so. You'll find it at all the drug stores in town.

EVERYDAY BILL OF FARE.

BY MARION HARLAND.

BREAKFAST.
Wheaten Grits.
Fresh Mackerel.
Farina Cakes.
Stewed Potatoes. Club Bread. Berries.
Tea. Coffee.

FRESH MACKEREL.—Clean, wash, wipe inside and out, pepper, salt and roll in Indian meal or "Wheat Germ Meal" and fry in hot lard or good dripping. Drain and serve hot. If you want a sauce for them add to half a cup of boiling water the juice of a lemon, a quarter teaspoonful of mustard and a tablespoonful of butter rolled in one of browned flour, salt to taste, boil up once and serve in a gravy boat.

FARINA CAKES.—One quart of milk, two cups of boiling water, half a cup of farina, three eggs, one scant cup of prepared flour, one tablespoonful of melted lard, one teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of molasses. Mix the farina with the boiling water, stir in salt and lard, beat hard and let it stand in a cool place all night, then beat in the eggs, the molasses, the milk, gradually, and lastly the flour, stirring all hard. Bake on a hot, greased griddle. They are very nice if the batter is not too stiff.

LUNCHEON.
Galantine.
Minced Potatoes.
Cress Salad.
Crackers and Cheese.
Cake and Lemonade.

GALANTINE.—Cut from a piece of fat fresh pork an oblong piece of skin five or six inches wide and eight or ten long. Leave a lining of fat on the inside. Lay in vinegar enough to cover it for four hours, then spread on a platter and cover the fat lining with minced meat of any and all kinds (ham holding an important place), veal, mutton, beef, liver, poultry, etc., seasoned piquantly with pepper, salt, herbs, onions, a touch of spice and a pinch of grated lemon peel. Moisten with gravy and put in a bit of fat now and then. Fold up the pork rind on all, bringing the edges together and putting in a stitch or two to hold them in place. Wrap in a single thickness of stout cloth, sewing it closely about it, and put on to boil in plenty of cold water, in which is mixed half a cup of vinegar to each quart of water. Boil slowly five hours. Let the galantine get nearly cold in the water, take it out and lay it under heavy weights all night, undo and remove the cloth, clip the threads and draw them out, trim off the edges and it is ready for the table. Cut clear through the skin and stuffing in carving it in neat slices. The "relish" is very fine.

MINCED POTATOES.—Mince cold boiled potatoes with a sharp knife, put a spoonful of beef dripping, or butter, in a frying-pan, with a tablespoonful of finely minced parsley, a quarter teaspoonful of grated lemon peel, pepper and salt. As it simmers stir in the potatoes, and continue to stir and toss until very hot all through and quite dry. Serve in a deep dish, hot.

CRESS SALAD.—Wash and pick over the cresses, shake off the wet and serve in a salad bowl. At table pick the twigs to pieces and season with sugar, pepper, salt, vinegar and oil. Mix well and pass crackers and cheese with it.

DINNER.
Asparagus Soup.
Boiled Bass.
Roast Sweetbreads and Green Peas.
Mashed Potatoes. Young Onions.
Belle's Bright Thought.
Coffee.

ASPARAGUS SOUP.—Three pints of soup stock, one large bunch of asparagus, cut into short lengths, the woody parts by themselves, one cup of milk, one tablespoonful of butter rolled in one of prepared flour, pepper and salt, put the stock over the fire with all the stalks and one-third of the green heads, cook until the asparagus can be rubbed through a colander, leaving the wood behind, rub all through that will pass easily, return the soup to the fire, season and bring to a boil, drop in the reserved heads, cut into inches, cook until these are tender. In another vessel heat the milk, stir in the floured butter and add to the soup. Line a tureen with dice of fried bread and pour the soup upon them.

BOILED BASS.—Clean and wash the fish, but do not split it or remove the head and tail. Sew up in a piece of mosquito netting fitted to the shape of the fish. Have in the fish kettle plenty of boiling water in which has been mixed a few tablespoonfuls of vinegar, a dozen pepper corns, two or three blades of mace and a tablespoonful of salt. Cook ten minutes for each pound and ten minutes over. Undo the cloth, lay the fish on a hot dish, and pour over it a cup of drawn butter, and seasoned with a tablespoonful of capers and the yolks of two hard boiled eggs chopped fine. Pass mashed potatoes with it.

ROAST SWEETBREADS AND PEAS.—Wash the sweetbreads, drop into boiling water, cook for fifteen minutes, then plunge into ice cold water and leave them there half an hour. Wipe dry, roll in beaten egg, then in cracker crumbs. Lay in a dripping pan, pour around them half a cupful of boiling water in which you have melted a teaspoonful of butter, cover and bake them half an hour, basting several times. Remove the cover and brown. Boil the peas as directed in a former paper, drain, butter, pepper and salt them, heap on a hot dish, and lay the sweetbreads around them.

YOUNG ONIONS.—Cut off the tops, wash, remove the outer layer of skin, and boil fifteen minutes in fresh hot water. Drain this off, cover the onions with milk and hot water in equal proportions, salt slightly and cook ten minutes after the boil recommences, or until the onions are tender. Drain, barely cover with hot cream or rich milk in which a lump of butter has been melted, salt and pepper, and send to table. No one who has once eaten onions cooked in this way will ever like those prepared (or ruined) after the ordinary mode.

BELLE'S BRIGHT THOUGHT.—One package of Coxe's gelatine soaked for four hours in a large cup of cold water. Two cups of boiling water, juice of a lemon, one cup of pale sherry, two cups of sugar, whites of six eggs, three pints of fine strawberries. Put soaked gelatine, sugar, lemon juice into a bowl, pour in the boiling water, stir until dissolved and let it cool but not congeal before adding the wine. Whip the whites to a stiff froth, and beat in a great spoonful at a time, the jelly, setting the bowl of meringue in ice water as you work. When all the jelly is in whip steadily for fifteen minutes, until you have a white sponge which will just drop from a spoon. Have ready a melon-shaped mold or a round bottomed bowl wet with cold water and lined evenly with strawberries dipped and rolled in sugar. As you cover the bottom pour in enough of the snowy sponge to keep them in place, building up the linings and filling this until the mold is full. Set on ice for five or six hours. Loosen around the edges with persuasive finger tips, turn out on a cold dish, sprinkle with powdered sugar as you serve, cut in careful perpendicular slices and send around cream with it. For cream you may substitute custard if you like. A beautiful and delicious dessert, and easily made.

Angostura Bitters, the world renowned appetizer and invigorator. Used now over the whole civilized world. Try it, but beware of imitations. Ask your grocer or druggist for the genuine article manufactured by Dr. J. G. B. Siegert & Sons.

INTERNATIONAL ALTERCATION.—[illegible] Tennoyer's sawdust laundry at [illegible] large grindstone which revolves [illegible] grinds both great and small [illegible] comes to it. A day or two ago a meek, long-haired, long-wondering [illegible] from the celestial shores of China strolling by saw the big grindstone idly revolving and thought it would be a good chance for him to start [illegible] sickle [illegible] his avowed profession. So he laid his sickle upon the stone, and a [illegible] A gentleman of Teutonic extraction [illegible] his turn around the place, noticed the [illegible] intensive looking [illegible] grinding [illegible] struck him that it would be a good thing to turn the hose on the interloper. So he turned it on, and in less than a second [illegible] Chinaman was [illegible] the water [illegible] the heathen who was probably [illegible] it all [illegible] rolled in a frenzy, his queue took [illegible] like a pump handle, and waving his sickle, he started for the Teutonic gentleman with a bound, determined to [illegible] The Teuton dropped the hose and [illegible] like a deer while the Chinaman followed like a sleuth hound on the track. Then arose a Macedonian cry [illegible] the purpose for the readers were [illegible] and the intended harvest was [illegible] as lively as he could. [illegible] the Chinaman and saw the boatman who is years [illegible] with a tool with Chinamen until Tennoyer is seated on the gubernatorial throne.

SETTLEMENT IN FIFTEEN YEARS.—A gentleman who has just returned from a visit to the Tygh valley [illegible] expresses himself as greatly surprised at the way in which the country has been settled up. About fifteen years ago he says he traveled from The Dalles to Tygh valley. There were a few farms along the bottoms of the creeks, but after leaving Fifteen Mile creek the country was a high undulating ridge all the remaining [illegible] miles to Tygh valley covered with [illegible] bunch grass and stretching away as far as the eye could reach with no signs of habitation and no sheep or cattle grazing thereon, and he was told there was no water there and the place would never be settled. Now he says you [illegible] all the way across the ridge. It was found that wheat would grow wherever the big bunch grass grew, and the land was taken up and cultivation has brought water to the surface and springs have broken out in many places and there is not a spear of bunch grass to be seen. The settlement stretches way back from the road on both sides and what looked to him on his first trip to be a howling waste is now settled, cultivated and fertile section. He says that if other similar tracts have been settled in the same manner the improvement in this state within the past decade must be almost incalculable.

AN INCORRIGIBLE LAW BREAKER.—Policeman Simmons arrived here from Tacoma yesterday afternoon having in charge Ed Hutson, charged with robbing the till in the Aurora restaurant. The authorities at Seattle had some trouble in capturing the fellow, and after they had taken him they [illegible] persuading them to let him go, averring that he was not the man wanted, that he had just come from San Francisco and had never been in Portland. He was identified by the [illegible] on the Northern Pacific train, and when Simmons arrived he threw up the sponge and said he was ready to come back. He has a record which proves him to be a most incorrigible scamp, and the purse stolen from the Aurora was found on his person. There is no reason to doubt but that he will go to the penitentiary for [illegible]. He is also wanted at Salem, where he stole a number of razors from a barber shop. Two of the [illegible] Mr. Dodge at the restaurant. [illegible] He served two or three years ago was arrested and [illegible] Alcatraz. He appears to have returned here [illegible]

A PLEASANT EXCURSION.—It is difficult to imagine how [illegible] the season could be made more pleasant than the Grace church excursion on the Olympian tomorrow. [illegible] most admired [illegible] A number of hammocks and [illegible] tions will be under [illegible] and the part [illegible] terest and give variety [illegible] [illegible] spoken of [illegible] [illegible] to draw [illegible] mind that [illegible] A M [illegible]

[illegible] redith [illegible] present [illegible] They will be [illegible] covered with elegant French plate mirrors. The [illegible] room [illegible] the [illegible] Europe [illegible] will be displayed [illegible] his own manufacture. The proposed alterations and furnishing of the [illegible] establishment will render it the finest and most systematically arranged suit and cloak house in the United States. When all these changes are completed it is Mr [illegible] intention to have cuts made representing the entire establishment. It has been [illegible] years since Mr. [illegible] started an unpretentious suit house in this city without a friend and without a dollar. He now employs fifty-two honest working women, who [illegible] all kept here.

MORE MONEY NEEDED.—A committee from the Fourth of July committee called at this office last night to ask us to say that they need about $1400 more in order to give a 24 karat yard-wide celebration. The presence of the entire Fourteenth regiment from Vancouver has been promised beyond peradventure. This settles the parade question. Last night the committee decided to give a grand boat parade and fireworks on the river at night, and they will ask the mayor of East Portland to appoint a committee to act in connection with the Portland committee. A good many rich men in this city have not subscribed a cent toward the celebration, and these will be visited today. It is expected that they will loosen their purse strings this time and thus secure the success of the celebration.

CHARGED WITH LARCENY.—A warrant was issued from Justice Davis' court yesterday on complaint of James Turk charging [illegible] Bell with larceny. The complainant avers that three weeks prior to the election he loaned Bell sufficient money to pay his wife's passage here from San Francisco, receiving as collateral a pawn ticket for a valuable ring. A few days ago Turk alleges Bell went to get his ring from the pawn broker, telling the latter that he had lost his ticket [illegible] another vest, and Bell succeeded in his little confidence game. It is also alleged that Bell [illegible] of the property. Bell was arrested and will have an examination at [illegible] o'clock this morning. It is a wonder Bell and Turk have not settled the matter with their fists.

SNEAK THIEF.—For a week or more past the police have been on the lookout for a fellow who has been lifting things about town. Last night he was overhauled by detective Barry [illegible] his hotel and taken into custody. On his arrival [illegible] [illegible]

ARRESTED AND RELEASED AGAIN.—Mrs. [illegible] the laundress who was arrested some time since for attempting to collect [illegible] order [illegible] [illegible] and held to answer in the police court, and afterwards released on her own recognizance, was again arrested Wednesday evening and taken to the county jail. Yesterday morning she had a preliminary examination before [illegible] Commissioner Gandy. She seems to have been convinced that the order did not belong to her and willingly signed it over to Postmaster Roby. She was allowed to go at large and as Landon will not get his money there will probably be no further steps taken against her, as she is quite an old woman and a widow.

TO YAQUINA BAY IN ONE DAY.—Commencing Monday the Oregon Pacific will run trains every day except Sunday between Corvallis and Yaquina bay, leaving Corvallis at [illegible] P. M. and the bay at 10 A. M. The west side division of the Oregon & California will be run so as to make through connection in one day. On and after Monday next the through train will leave Portland at 7 30 A. M. instead of 8 and arrive at Corvallis at noon. The McMinnville express will leave at 4 30 P. M. (45 minutes earlier than now). The through train will arrive at 6 10 P. M. instead of 6 o'clock and the McMinnville express at 9 A. M. instead of 8 30.

TO ILWACO DIRECT.—Attention is called to the fact that the Olympian commences her regular trips for the summer season on Tuesday next, the [illegible] She leaves Ash street at 8.30 A. M. on Tuesdays and Thursdays and at 2 P. M. on Saturdays, running without stop to Astoria and without transfer to Ilwaco and Fort Canby and connecting at Astoria with steamer and stages for Clatsop. Her time is announced in the regular advertisement of the company. The material reduction in rates is very acceptable to the public and everyone is in a little flutter to have at least one trip on the magnificent steamer.

WORTH TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS.—In Feldenheimer's right hand window there is on exhibition the most elegant necklace of diamonds ever seen here. It is worth $10,000 and is composed of a string of diamonds to which is attached a magnificent star pendant. There are also several large diamonds which are dazzling. Just back of this display is a butterfly made of gold filled with diamonds and rubies. It is made to be worn as a hair ornament or as a pin and is worth about $1000. The collection is well worth walking a good many blocks to see. The diamonds in the window are worth $20,000.

BRIDGE CONTRACT LET.—Proposals for building the bridge of 160 feet span across the Tualatin river at Bridgeport, on the line of the narrow gauge were opened yesterday. Hoffman & Bates were the successful bidders. The bids for the whole work, including approaches, amounted in the aggregate to the following: Hoffman & Bates, Portland, $9188; American Bridge Co., San Francisco, $9797; Paquet & Smith, East Portland, $11,208; J. E. Bennett, Portland, $11,333; P. Paquet, Oregon City, $18,553.

WHERE THEY STARTED.—The supreme court has reversed the decision of Judge Stearns in the case of Wally Cline vs. Jacob Cline. This [illegible] it was before it was ever brought into court. Jacob sued Wally for divorce and it was refused him. Wally sued for a divorce from Jacob and a division of certain property [illegible] came out victorious. The reversal of the decision leaves Jacob and Wally still man and wife and Jacob in undisputed possession of [illegible] property.

WHO KNOWS WILLIAM SHIELTS.—Mrs. Isabella Shields, Naples, Scott county, Illinois, writes to THE OREGONIAN as follows: "My son William Shields left home for the West six years since. He was then sixteen years old. I have not heard from him since, but understood that he and the company with him were going to Oregon. Any information in regard to his whereabouts will be very thankfully received by his anxious mother."

POLICE COMMISSION RUMOR.—A report is freely circulated around town that at the city election to be held next Monday the democrats will elect a board of police commissioners, notwithstanding the decision of the committee on judiciary of the common council. The claim is that under several different provisions in the state constitution the present commissioners can not legally hold over after a regular city election.

A. O. U. W. ELECTION.—At the last regular meeting of Unity lodge No. 9, A. O. U. W., the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: P. M. W., [illegible]; [illegible] M. W., Dr. H. M. Russ; [illegible] Abrahamson; O., J. W. Snyder; receiver, D. S. [illegible]; recorder, Sol. Friedenthal; financier, J. M. Cohn; guide, T. [illegible]; I. W., Conrad [illegible]; representative to grand lodge, D. Solis Cohen.

GRAND JURY.—The grand jury have cleaned up business pretty well, there being but three or four cases where the parties are confined in jail for them to pass upon. They will be kept together, however, until about the end of the month in order that District Attorney Hearn may dispose of all the business he has on hand before his term of office expires and his successor takes charge.

GOING HOME.—Gen. John F. [illegible] of Jackson county, who was suddenly prostrated by disease of the heart while landing from the train on his arrival here on Monday last, and who has been confined in the Portland general hospital since, will be taken home to-day, his friends considering him far enough recovered to be moved with safety.

ON HER BEAM ENDS.

An Empty Sailing Vessel Takes a Tumble in the Willamette River.

The British iron bark Alliance, Capt. Thomas, arrived at Montgomery wharf Albina yesterday. She had discharged the most of her ballast and the steamboat Ocklahama had taken hold in order to move her to another dock for reception of wheat cargo. The Ocklahama, Capt. Ericksen, drew alongside at [illegible] A. M. and the lines of the Alliance were cast off. Before being moved by the steamer the bark careened to port, her keel raking the wharf piling and her masts and spars striking the steamboat's cabin roof. The heeling action kept the bark close to the dock and new lines were at once [illegible] holding her and the steamer fast. Several men were in the bark's hold and others on deck. They escaped being [illegible] Capt. Ericksen was in the steamer's pilot house [illegible] he was not injured although the house was almost demolished.

A crowd soon gathered about the scene as word of the accident spread quickly. The bark heeled over [illegible] dock headed down stream the steamer [illegible] the same way and covered with rigging. The bark [illegible] first struck the steamer about midships her mainmast doing the damage [illegible] and forward cabin the foremost [illegible] [illegible] of the boat. Her port [illegible] are [illegible] feet under water and her keel almost that [illegible] The Ocklahama's cabin is stove in [illegible] on the starboard side. Her hog chains [illegible] and her smoke stack is seriously out of its [illegible] position. The bark sustained damage [illegible] rigging and spars only.

Workmen were immediately set to work [illegible] [illegible]. It is [illegible] that the captain allowed too much ballast to be taken out, being over confident as to the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] She was [illegible] from Liverpool [illegible] [illegible] of Dalhousie [illegible] San Francisco [illegible] The steamer must have cabin [illegible] and her chains straightened. Her damage will probably be over $1000.

It is stated that the builders of the Alliance [illegible] the vessel would stand up without [illegible] and the hold swept clean.

A pile of wood lying in front of McCoy's printing office was ornamented for two days with a placard stating that a man was wanted to split it and carry it in. But no one applied for the job and Mr. McCoy was obliged to call in a Chinaman. He now considers himself fortunate that he did not have to pack in the wood himself.

At 4 o'clock yesterday morning an alarm was turned from box [illegible] for a fire in Alisky's candy factory on F street between Fifth and Sixth. The fire originated in a barrel in a back place on the second story probably from hot cinders or sparks from a chimney falling on some carelessly contained [illegible]. It was discovered by some of the workmen. Little damage resulted.

THE ELECTION.

We are not yet able to give complete returns. The more distant districts of Eastern and Southern Oregon are slow to report and even when reports come they are not always in complete or intelligible shape. Those counties marked (*) are official and those not so designated are estimated. In every instance, however, the estimates are based on partial returns. No effort is made to give the prohibition vote as it is utterly ignored by the reporters from several counties. Enough is known to indicate that the prohibition vote is about 2500.

The legislature will be republican. In the senate there will be 20 republicans and 10 democrats and in the house probably [illegible] republicans and 29 democrats. The returns indicate that the representation in the house will be as follows:

THE STAGE.

THE CASINO.—Last night The Chimes of Normandy, always a favorite among opera goers all over the country, was produced at the Casino to a fair house. It gave the new company individually and collectively a far better opportunity for a display of ability than did the opening opera. Had the management chosen this opera for the initial performance they would doubtless be better off financially to-day. Miss Manfred as Serpolette proved herself to be a charming and finished artiste and from the many encores received it proves that she has become a great favorite. Miss Marchi appeared to much better advantage than in the previous opera and met with much favor. Mr. [illegible] as the Marquis sang and acted in a manly way and has established himself as a Portland favorite. Mr. Bishop as the miser Gaspard played the part fairly and could be a little less deliberate in his business while holding the stage alone he would be far more effective. M. Kelly as the Baillie did very well indeed. Mr. Richard Vierga was acceptable as Grenicheux. The stage manager should be a little more particular and not allow the introduction of too many gags. They become exceedingly tiresome when indulged in too freely. The chorus is very good and the orchestra under the baton of [illegible] did some good work. The opera will doubtless draw [illegible] Next Monday The Widow O'Brien, an operatic extravaganza.

THE NEW MARKET.—The Bunch of Keys at the New Market theater is doing a fine business. The house last night was the best of the week except Monday, and the next three and last performances will undoubtedly [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Only matinee on Saturday at [illegible]

THE EAST SIDE.

Narrow Escape from Death—Political Matters—Personal Items.

About 4 o'clock last evening the 4 year old daughter of J. Fried, a tenant residing on Water and J streets, while playing with some little companions in that neighborhood fell into the slough in the rear of the old Trainor hotel and immediately sank from view. Luckily the accident was noticed by a river front character commonly known as Shorty, who promptly plunged in and rescued the drowning child. It required considerable effort to resuscitate the little one, but at last accounts she was doing well. Her rescuer received the warm thanks of the parents.

MR. SOMMERVILLE DECLINES.

Mr. John Sommerville, for whom the republican delegates from the First ward were instructed to vote for the nomination for city councilman, writes the following under date of June 17:

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Will you oblige me by saying under the head of East Portland notes that I positively decline to have my name used in the convention for councilman from the First ward. And oblige yours very respectfully, JOHN SOMMERVILLE.

TO BE ORGANIZED.

A meeting will be held at W. C. T. U. hall at 8 o'clock this evening for the purpose of organizing a Young Women's Christian Temperance union. Especial invitations are extended to all young ladies of East Portland having the principles of this society at heart to be present.

Mr. A. F. Hogan has not retired from the real estate business as might be inferred from the brief item published in THE OREGONIAN of Wednesday. He and Mr. H. D. [illegible] have dissolved partnership, but both the gentlemen will continue in the avocation with which they have so long been identified.

The committee appointed at the prohibition meeting on Wednesday evening have been canvassing the propriety of nominating a city ticket and it is understood have determined to recommend the placing of a distinct set of candidates in the field. A meeting of the prohibitionists will be held tonight for that purpose.

THE COURTS.

Judge Smith will call the trial calendar on Monday, the 21st inst. and set cases for trial.

Judge Stearns yesterday granted Allie F. Dennis a divorce from George W. Dennis, and the care and custody of their minor child, Alfred Ralph Dennis, aged 5 years. The parties were married in Fenton, Tennessee, March [illegible] 186[illegible]. Plaintiff complains that defendant has abused and treated her harshly, and falsely accused her of adultery, also that he applied opprobrious names to her in the presence of her boarders. The action was commenced May 28.

James [illegible] as defendant in an action brought against him by Edgar [illegible] has filed notice of an appeal to the supreme court. The reason of asking the appeal [illegible] set forth by the appellant is that the circuit court erred in instructing the jury at the trial of said action that if defendant was engaged as manager for [illegible] at a fixed salary even though he had no pecuniary interest in the [illegible] that over he was liable in said action [illegible] also that the court erred in granting judgment on the verdict.

GENERAL NEWS.

Presentation of a Statue of Daniel Webster.

EVENTS IN THE SPORTING WORLD

Yacht Race in New York—The Sullivan-Mitchell Match—Big Fire at San Francisco—Coast Notes.

CONCORD, N H, June 17—The statue of Daniel Webster, presented to the state by Benjamin Pierce Cheney of Boston, was dedicated to-day with imposing civic and military ceremonies. The statue was placed in the state house park. The pedestal is of the finest Concord granite and designed by Thomas Ball, who also executed the model of the statue at Florence Italy, the casting being made at Munich. It is eight feet high and weighs 2000 pounds.

The weather although warm was all that could be desired. From early morning people continued to arrive from surrounding towns in carriages and the regular and special trains on all the roads were densely crowded. The number of visitors to the city is estimated at 30 000 and it is by far the largest gathering ever seen here on a public day.

THE ORATION

Samuel Colcord Bartlett D D LL D then delivered the oration of the day, saying: Daniel Webster comes home to-day to the heart of his [illegible] for here we stand in the very center [illegible] his earlier years of life and labor, the home of his birth, his growth and his maturity. On every side are places which will be forever associated with his name and history. A generation has elapsed since his death; political and personal animosities have passed to the tomb, the smoke and dust of conflict have cleared away, and as we look back upon the scene of half a century ago, brilliant with great names at the bar, on the bench, in the cabinet and forum, as we gaze on the struggles and often battles of giants, there stands out on that arena no figure more colossal than Daniel Webster. And when the distant historian shall pass in review the illustrious men of the nation between Washington and Lincoln, what figure among them all will loom up so clear and grand upon the vision of posterity. He was one whom the presidency of these United States could hardly have honored; one who could have honored the presidency. It is as well that he did not. No title is so great as the name of Daniel Webster.

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

The following letter from the president was then read:

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, Dec 12.

Hon Moody Currier, Governor of New Hampshire—Dear Sir, I regret that pressing official duties will not permit me to be present at the exercises attending the unveiling of the statue of Daniel Webster at Concord on Thursday next. Every occasion which does honor to this illustrious statesman is of extraordinary interest to all American citizens. Since our pride in his career and achievements is in no sense limited by partisan influence or by a sentiment less than national, it would be well if in the capital of every state there stood a statue such as Concord boasts, which should not only prompt the memory of man but should keep alive through the coming centuries the love and veneration of the American people for true American greatness. Yours very truly,

GROVER CLEVELAND.

Cheney made an address formally presenting the statue, Gov Currier accepting it on behalf of the state and touching eloquently upon Webster's career.

SPORTING NOTES

SHEEPSHEAD BAY RACES

NEW YORK, June 17—There was a heavy downpour of rain at Sheepshead bay before the races to-day, making the track very heavy. The event of the day was the Coney Island cup race and much regret was expressed that Troubadour, winner of the Suburban, did not start. However the result was an excellent race, resulting in a rare event at that distance—a dead heat. The race was not run off and the stakes were divided, though the cup itself was awarded to Barnum.

For all ages, seven furlongs—Dry Monopole won, Rock and Rye second, Brambleton third; time 1 30¼.

Paddock stakes for two-year-olds, three quarters of a mile—Tremont won, La Juive second, No third; time 1 17¼.

Handicap for all ages, one and three sixteenths miles—Tenbooker won, Aretino second, Powhattan third; 2 11¼.

Coney Island cup for [illegible] year olds and upwards, one and three-quarter miles—Starters: Eole, Miss Woodford and Barnum. Barnum and Miss Woodford ran side by side until they turned into the straight, where Miss Woodford led. The pace was rapid and the mare felt it severely. In the last twenty yards Barnum got alongside of Miss Woodford, and the contest was a nose and nose struggle to the wire, resulting in a dead heat. Eole third. It was not run off; time 3 0¾.

Mermaid stakes for 3-year old fillies, one and one-eighth miles—Letretia had the lead all the way until the stretch was neared, when Landalia, apparently without an effort, went to the front and won by three fourths a length, Stratagem second, Letretia third; time 2 0[illegible].

Selling race, one mile—Bessie B won, Valet second, Tattler third; time 1 4[illegible].

THE PRISCILLA WINS THE YACHT RACE

NEW YORK, June 17—A fleet of yachts anchored off the bay, Staten Island, early this morning to prepare for the contests of to-day under the auspices of the New York Yacht club. The entries numbered twenty six, among them being the first-class sloops Mayflower, Atlantic, Priscilla and Puritan. The wind was very light in the early morning and the weather hazy, but toward 11 o'clock it gave signs of clearing. The [illegible] was the first of the fleet to pass the quarantine station at 11 10, the Priscilla at 11 11, the Puritan at 11 1[illegible], the Atlantic at 11 [illegible] and the Mayflower at 11 19.

SANDY HOOK, June 17, [illegible] P M—The following yachts have turned the southwest spit: Bedouin first, followed by the Priscilla, Mayflower, Puritan and Atlantic.

The yachts passed buoy off the Hook as follows: Bedouin 12 5[illegible], Priscilla 1 55, Mayflower 1 58 56, Puritan 1 01 45, Atlantic 1 09 10.

The wind is light from the west and it is cloudy. The Priscilla is leading, and near the Hook. She will have to make another tack before rounding. The Bedouin keeps near to her. The Boston yachts cannot be seen on account of fog.

12 P M—The weather continues thick. The yachts are in sight outside the bar, homeward bound. The Priscilla leads, followed by the Bedouin, Mayflower and Puritan.

The yachts crossed the finish in the following order: Priscilla first, Atlantic second, Puritan third, Mayflower fourth.

FIGHT TO A FINISH

PHILADELPHIA, June 17—A special to the Telegraph says: At an early hour this morning a prize fight took place on the banks of the Delaware river near the mouth of Rancocas creek. The principals were Tom McCann of Providence R I and Billy Martin of Newark, N J, and the stakes were $400. Twenty one rounds were fought. McCann was three inches taller and four pounds heavier than his antagonist, who stood five feet five and weighed 138 pounds. Martin had the best of the fight to the finish, but McCann stood up pluckily. In the last round Martin first planted his left on McCann's head, badly damaging his left ear, and followed it up with his right. He repeated his blows a few times and then, with McCann's hands hanging by his side and his face leaning forward, Martin shot in a hot one against his neck and stretched him out limp. McCann was unable to respond, and the battle was given to Martin.

ST LOUIS RACES

ST LOUIS, June 17—The weather to-day was good. The track was heavy.

One and one-eighth miles—Freeman won, Warsign second, Revoke third; time 2 03¼.

One mile—Macola won, Handy Andy second, Clonee third; time 1 49¼.

Cotton exchange stakes, three-quarters mile—Laredo made the running, attended by Terra Cotta, Councillor and Pose. There was no change for half a mile, when Montrose moved up, took the lead in the stretch and won handily by two lengths, Terra Cotta second, Laredo third; time 1 1[illegible].

Three-quarters mile—Clarion won, Jaubert second, Virginia third; time 1 20.

One mile—Bootblack won, Boaz second, Gold Flea third; time 1 4[illegible].

THE SULLIVAN MITCHELL MATCH

NEW YORK, June 17—The boxing exhibition between Mitchell and Sullivan, which is to take place on the polo grounds July 5, is the cause of a lively discussion as to the merits of the men. Many contend that Sullivan has seen his best days and that after four rounds he will be at the mercy of the clever, strong, healthy athlete-like Mitchell. Sullivan in one interview said: "Once for all I am eager to settle matters with Mitchell, who ever since our first meeting has been on the lookout to find me and then retire without giving me a chance to get even with him. There is no doubt Mitchell is a clever fighter, but he never yet saw the day when he could whip [illegible]. I think I shall settle the question of superiority to my liking on the polo grounds."

WRESTLING MATCH

CINCINNATI, June 17—Twenty five hundred people assembled at the Grand Opera house to-night to witness a Greco Roman wrestling match between William Muldoon and Thomas Cannon. Muldoon won the first bout in thirty five minutes and Cannon the second in eight minutes. After wrestling fifty six minutes for the third and final fall the referee decided the bout and match a draw. Muldoon became very sick after the first fifteen minutes wrestling, and Cannon was not in first class form.

CALIFORNIA

FIRE IN A PIANO FACTORY

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17—Shortly before 4 o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the basement of the large four story iron building Nos 18 to 26 Ellis street, occupied, Nos 18 to [illegible], by William J Heney & Co, carpet manufacturers and importers, and Nos 24 to 26 by T M Antisell & Co's piano manufactory and warehouse. The fire confined itself to Antisell's part of the building, but gained little headway because of the material in the structure. The firemen had it under control in a short time, but as smoke continued to arise from the basement and out of the windows on the first and second floors of the warehouse, steady streams were piled up to 9 o'clock. The loss will probably reach from $15 000 to $20 000. The cause is yet unknown, but it is believed it originated in the engine in the basement, although the fires had been put out therein twelve hours before.

Owing to the fact that the blaze was what is known as a "blind" fire, it was impossible to tell until its complete extinction the extent of its ravages. It now proves to have been much more serious than any one had anticipated. T M Antisell & Co had about 400 pianos besides a large stock of material on hand, and their loss is estimated at $200 000, on which there is insurance for $100 000. W J Heney's loss is estimated at $35,000, covered by insurance. Damage to the building owned by Mrs Mark Hopkins $5000, also covered by insurance.

THE G A R ENCAMPMENT

At a meeting of the general committee on management of the twentieth national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic last evening the statement was made that a report had gained circulation that the committee would not be able to carry out their plans for lack of funds. The finance committee however reported that of the $60 000 subscribed for expenses of the encampment, $55 000 had been appropriated, and that the general committee might rely on obtaining that amount.

OUR TRADE WITH AUSTRALIA

In an editorial to-morrow the Merchant, in an appeal to congress for a subsidy to a steamship line between this port and the Australian colonies, will print what it terms a remarkable exhibit showing that our Australian exports have increased the past two years ending December 31 1885, from $5 500 000 to $11,500 000. The balance of trade in favor of the United States has increased in the same period from $4 500 000 to $9,000,000.

CASE DISMISSED

This afternoon in Judge Rix's court the case of Prentiss M Clarkson, arrested yesterday at the instance of McKee Rankin on a warrant charging him with forcible entry and detainer in connection with the controversy over the possession of the California theater, came up for trial. Clarkson was dismissed, as Rankin did not desire to prosecute the case.

THE ARCATA

The steamer Arcata, which ran on rocks near Fort Ross June 1[illegible] and later sank and capsized, was brought to this port to-day in tow of the tug Monarch, and is now lying alongside the sea wall. The extent of the damage has not yet been ascertained.

KILLED HIMSELF

WOODLAND, June 17—This morning George F Sharpnack, a prosperous farmer living near Cacheville and supervisor of Yolo county, shot and killed himself. Whether it was suicide or accident is not yet known.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY

VERDICT OF GUILTY IN THE CONSPIRACY CASES

OLYMPIA, June 17—The jury in the conspiracy cases retired to consider their verdict at 10 o'clock this morning and returned to court about 3 this afternoon with a verdict of guilty as charged, with a recommendation to mercy.

BILL NYE TO GROVER

The Western Philosopher on the President's Marriage

HUDSON, Wis, June 7 1886—The Hon Grover Cleveland, Washington, D C. My Dear Sir—You have now assumed a new duty and taken upon yourself an additional responsibility. Not content with the great weight of national affairs, sufficient to crush any other pachyderm, you have cheerfully and almost gleefully become a married man. While I cannot agree with you politically, Grover, I am forced to admire your courage.

This morning a new life opens out to you—the life of a married man. It is indeed a humiliating situation. To be a president of the United States, the roustabout of a free people, is a trying situation, but to be a newly married president, married in the full glare of official life, with the eye of a divided constituency upon you, is to place yourself where nerve is absolutely essential.

I, too, am married, but not under such trying circumstances. Others have been married and still lived, but it has remained for you, Mr President, young as you are, to pose as a newly wedded president and to take your new mother-in-law into the cabinet with you. For this reason I say freely that to walk a slack rope across the moist brow of Niagara and carry a nervous man in a wheelbarrow sinks into a mere commonplace. Daniel playing "tag" with a denful of half-starved lions becomes a historic cipher, and the Hebrew children, sitting on a rosy bed of red hot clinkers in the fiery furnace, are almost forgotten.

With a large wad of civil service wedged in among your back teeth, a larger fragment, perhaps, than you were prepared to masticate when you bit it off, with an agonized Southern democracy and a clamorous Northern constituency, with disappointment poorly concealed among your friends and hilarity openly expressed by your enemies, with the snarl of the vanquished Mr Davis, who was at one time a sort of president himself, as he rolls up future majorities for your foes, with a lot of sharp-witted journalists walking all over you every twenty four hours and climbing up your stalwart frame with their telegraph-repair boots on, I am surprised, Grover, honestly, as between man and man, that you should have tried to add housekeeping to all this other agony. Had you been young and tender under the wings I might have understood it, but you must admit, in the quiet and sanctity of your own home, Grover, that you are no gosling. You have arrived at man's estate. You have climbed the barbed-wire fence which separates the fluff and bloom and blossom and bumblebees of impetuous youth from the yellow fields and shadowy orchards of middle life. You now stand in the full glare of life's meridian. You are entering upon a new experience. Possibly you think that because you are president the annoyances peculiar to the life of a new, green groom will not reach you. Do not fool yourself in this manner. Others have made the same mistake. Position, wealth and fame cannot shut out the awkward and trying circumstances which attend the married man, even as the sparks are prone to fly upward.

It will seem odd to you at first, Mr President, after the affairs of the nation have been put aside for the day and the government fire-proof safe locked up for the night, to go up to your boudoir and converse with a bride, with one corner of her mouth full of pins. A man may write a pretty fair message to congress, one that will be accepted and printed all over the country, and yet he may not be fitted to have a conversation with one corner of a woman's mouth, while the other is filled with pins. To some men it is given to be great as statesmen, while to others it is given to be fluent conversationalists under these circumstances.

Mr President, I may be taking a great liberty in writing to you and touching upon your private affairs, but I noticed that everybody else was doing it, and so I have nerved myself up to write you, having once been a married man myself, though not, as I said, under the same circumstances. When I was married I was only a plain justice of the peace, plodding along and striving to do my duty. You was then sheriff of your county. Little did we think in those days that now you would be a freshly married president and I the author of several pieces which have been printed in the papers. Little did we think then, when I was justice of the peace in Wyoming and you a sheriff in New York, that to-day your timothy lawn would be kicked all to pieces by your admiring constituents, while I would be known and loved wherever the English language is tampered with.

So we have risen together, you to a point from which you may be easily observed and flayed alive by the newspapers, while I am the same pleasant, unassuming, gentlemanly friend of the poor that I was when only a justice of the peace and comparatively unknown.

I cannot close this letter without expressing a wish that your married life may be a joyous one, as the paper at Laramie has said, "and that no cloud may ever come to mar the horizon of your wedded bliss." (This sentence is not my own. I copy it verbatim from a wedding notice of my own written by a Western journalist who is now at the Old Woman's home.)

Mr President, I hope you will not feel that I have been too forward in writing to you personally over my own name. I mean to do what is best for you. You can truly say that all I have ever done in this way has been for your good. I speak in a plain way sometimes, but I don't beat about the bush. I see that you do not want to have any engrossed bills sent to you for a couple of weeks.

That's the way I was. I told all my creditors to withhold their engrossed bills during my [illegible], as I was otherwise engrossed. [illegible] made me a great many friends and [illegible] a large circle of creditors. It was [illegible] printed in a foreign paper and [illegible] [illegible] pages.

[illegible] well here at home. I may [illegible] if I can sell a block of stock in the [illegible] Dream, a rich gold [illegible]. It is a very rich [illegible] capital to develop it. [illegible] I quote from exchange.

I [illegible] Washington, do not let that make [illegible] difference in your plans. If I thought that your wife would send out to the [illegible] and such things on my account I would [illegible].

Just stick your head out of the window and whistle as soon as the cabinet is gone, and I will come up there and spend the evening.

Remember that I have not grown cold toward you just because you have married. You will find me the kind of a friend who will not desert you just when you are in trouble. Yours, as heretofore,

BILL NYE.

P S—I send you to-day a card receiver. It looks like silver. Do not let your wife bear on too hard when she polishes it. I was afraid you might try to start into keeping house without a card receiver, so I bought this yesterday. When I got married I forgot to buy a card-receiver, and I guess we would have frozen to death before we could have purchased one, but friends were more thoughtful, and there were nine of them among the gifts. If you decide that it would not be proper for you to receive presents, you may return the card-receiver to me or put it in the cellar-way till I come over there this fall.

Much has been said of late with regard to spring sown grain being in need of rain. Allowance being made for the usual extreme fears there has been some reason for apprehension of damage by continued dryness. Fall sown grains as yet are not suffering, but spring sown certainly would be benefited by one or two days good rain. Light rains fell during the week over many parts of the eastern section and were of benefit to growing crops. Some sections not visited by rain are reporting the need of moisture. As a rule the eastern section is seldom visited by rains at so late a date as this, earlier rains giving all needed moisture. This year early rains were not of the usual importance and of course a visitation at this time would be welcome. For several days past occasional cloudiness and very light rain showers here have rise to the hope that we were to have a short season of rainfall. Last night and this morning some rain fell here. This is followed later in the day by occasional light showers. The valley report to-day notes only cloudy and cool weather.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past 4 hours, [illegible] ctls wheat, 1535 bbls flour, 1[illegible] ctls oats, [illegible] ctls millstuff, 4[illegible] 408 lbs wool, [illegible] lbs hides, 14 cs eggs, [illegible] cs butter, 50 cattle, 61 sheep. Also 1 1[illegible] ctls wheat, [illegible] bbls flour, 3[illegible] 4[illegible] lbs wool, 80 lbs hides from the eastern section.

FREIGHTS—No arrivals in the week. Sailings were Cleopatra and Undine for Queenstown. On about the All[illegible] iron was rechartered and the Oakworth iron was taken up. Rates named were 35s 6d and 78s 6d respectively for orders. At this writing there are two wood available for wheat in river. Several vessels are fully due.

OATS—The receipts for the week under review has been but half that of the preceding week, bringing about a similar falling away. Trade is consequently light and aside from sales to local dealers little has done. San Francisco has presented an easy tone, $1[illegible] being the extreme for Oregon grades. This admits of [illegible] being paid here at which figures have gone above it only when an extra choice lot offered. The local trade paid [illegible] for best feed grades. These figures are quoted at the close. There is nothing in the situation promising a material change.

WHEAT—Receipts for the week [illegible] tons valley and 710 tons Walla Walla—a total of [illegible] tons as against 4[illegible] tons valley and 3001 tons Walla Walla the preceding week. This makes a falling off of 119 tons as compared with the previous week, both grades contributing. The movement is curtailed more by reason of the lower prices offered than for any other cause. Immediately after our last weekly review buyers dropped bids and business became quite impossible. The latter part of last calendar week saw very few sales, and because of the position into which the market had fallen it was quite impossible to quote with any satisfaction. In the past two or three days we are reported business in the interior on basis of $1 05@1 07 for the Walla Walla grade. As a rule bids do not exceed $1 05, and it is only when a desirable parcel is presented that more can be had. Tonnage in port is quite provided for and new arrivals would have enough lay days to aid shippers in securing any cargo stuff lacking without being forced. The position is then an easy one and certainly against sellers, many of whom have been trying the market. Valley is more irregular. Shippers have been offered only small parcels, and for these have not bid up to what they would for a round lot. Small lots seldom brought out a bid of over $1 10 that and $1 12½ being given as the quoted range. These figures would buy very little and at the moment a sort of deadlock exists. Foreign advices are in most part accountable for the present local conditions. Cargoes are slow sale even at material concessions from the quoted range. Foreign buyers are favored by an increasing quantity afloat and by larger Indian and Atlantic shipments. As a near at hand supply they still have home stocks and prospective fair imports. Favorable crop news is also a depressing influence. In our own country the visible is crawling down, the decrease for the past week being in the neighborhood of 1 000 000 bushels. American crops are generally in good condition, the prospects being good for a full average yield. Chicago and New York have shown a narrow fluctuation, but close lower than a week ago.

The following is a comparative statement of deliveries from English farmers, imports into the United Kingdom and quantities afloat for the weeks ended as below:

FLOUR—Receipts for the week 4413 bbls valley and 1920 bbls Walla Walla, a total increase of 1103 bbls over the preceding week. San Francisco shipments by last two steamers were 874 bbls. The foreign movement [illegible] nothing at the moment. A good local call obtains, the market presenting no new feature. Standards are quoted $4 80@4 [illegible]; Walla Walla $3 50@4.

MILLSTUFF—The call is only fair and the market rules quiet. Owing to limited stocks values are maintained. Shipments to San Francisco are continued. No middlings in hands of dealers, and chop is a scarce article. Quote jobbing values: Bran $13@15, chop $[illegible]@22, shorts $1[illegible]; oil meal, $32 50 per ton.

BUTTER—Market freely supplied from local sources and stocks of common are difficult to move, a very fair grade being obtainable at 10@12½c. The quoted range is 5@15c, the extreme had for strictly choice.

POULTRY—Chicken close firmer, young having sold up to $3 and old to $4. Supplies have been fair. Other poultry is not much inquired for and receipts equal the call. Ducks, $5@6, geese $5@[illegible], turkeys [illegible]@ 1c.

EGGS—Very liberal receipts for the week and the call has failed to take all offered. Values as a consequence ruled easy, sales being made at 11½@12½c.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, June 17—Government were dull and strong with quotations ⅛ higher for 4s and 4½s and ¼ higher for [illegible]. Almost all stocks were higher at the opening, although Erie was down ¼, Northern Pacific preferred ¼ and Western Union ⅛ per cent. The momentary heaviness in early dealings depressed prices of most of the active stocks slightly below first figures, but these were generally the lowest of the day, for good buying set in and prices continued strong on an active market until about noon. Realizing sales then commenced, but the market remained steady, the volume of business showing a material increase. The market closed steady.

The Mail and Express says: Mining shares were strong. Sales—Hale & Norcross $[illegible] 45, Savage $1 20, Bulwer $1 85@1 90, Bodie $1 80, Sutro 10, California & Virginia $[illegible] 0, Navajo 85@90, DeSmet $1, Leadville 24.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

Oregon's Philosopher-Poet Discourses of the Ignorance of the Ancients and the Discomforts of the Present Day

MARQUAM'S HILL, June 19—Often I wish that I had lived in the good old days, when the earth was young and man had not become so all-fired ambitious. The amount of energy I now waste on the desert air in order to eat three substantial meals a day, had it been expended three or four thousand years ago, would probably have made me a capitalist, and possibly the owner of a small-sized county. I am painfully aware of the fact that I don't know much, still I could have taught old Rameses and other distinguished men of those days some things they never imagined. Sometimes I lie awake for hours at night, thinking of the painful ignorance and glaring success of the early settlers of Jerusalem and Thebes, and contrasting the picture with the vice versa of A D 1886. I have reason to believe that none of the Pharaoh family knew enough to turn off the gas when they went to bed, yet they were counted big potatoes in their time. Among all the smart men of Greece not one had sense enough to scratch a match, and as for Julius Cæsar and the entire Roman senate, they couldn't load a horse pistol to save them from perdition. Charlemagne didn't know potatoes from pumpkins, and Cleopatra hadn't sufficient sabe to wear a bustle. The ignorance of the ancients must have been very embarrassing at times.

Philosophers tell us that we should be thankful that our lot is cast in this enlightened age of the world, and that we are joint heirs to the accumulated wit, wisdom and invention of ages. That sounds pretty, but when we pause and reflect for a few hours, the fallacy is apparent. Our heritage of ages is a glittering fraud that can not stand the nitric acid test of an analytical mind like mine. I have proof for this assertion; I never make a rash statement only to have some nineteenth century crank in the back part of the house arise and demand a demonstration. Here we are on this 19th day of June 1886 in possession of this alleged glorious inheritance, and every man in Portland yearning to cast it aside, only to go down to the seashore and dig clams and dodge breakers all summer long, just as primeval men did centuries and centuries ago. What chance stands Aristotle in a moonlight night at Clatsop. How fared Homer at North Beach last year? That shows how we appreciate the wisdom of the ancients.

Three or four thousand years ago the people were delightfully innocent. Wall street had not been laid out, ice cream was a thing of the indefinite hence, and oysters on the half shell were free. In honor of these halcyon days I have composed the following poetic gem. I think I am a true poet, because poesy with me is a labor of love. I would rather compose a poem any day than saw a cord of wood.

WHEN THIS OLD EARTH WAS NEW

There was a time, long, long ago,
When politics were pure as snow,
When every man was good and true—
But that was when the earth was new.

Then bogus butter was unknown
And steak was sold without the bone,
The whisky then was pure as dew—
When this old globe of ours was new.

The farmers then were happy men,
For wheat was worth a dollar ten,
A mortgage then was never seen
When this terrestrial ball was green.

Of strikes and boycotts there were none,
A fellow never got a dun,
There were no bores with lengthy tongues,
Oh life was joy when earth was young.

The ladies then, though sweet and fair,
With our dear girls could not compare;
In all the earth, unchanged by art,
There is but woman's loving heart.

DR. VANMONCISCAR,

THE WELL KNOWN

SPECIALIST

Proprietor and Consulting Physician of the Only Private Dispensary on the Pacific Coast, Now Permanently Located at 132, 134 Third St., Portland.

DR VANMONCISCAR has made the treatment of Private Diseases of Men a special study and practice for many years. Over 4000 cases treated yearly. Recent cases of private diseases cured in a short time. Ulcers, Humors and Blotches on Face or Body cured without giving Mercury or other Poisons. Mercury is the curse of the human race. Your children will suffer from its effect. Avoid it as you would avoid any deadly drug, and use no more. These diseases are being cured at this Dispensary without mercury.

DR VANMONCISCAR is a graduate of a regular Medical College, is well known over the United States and Canada by thousands of old and young men he has cured, and it is a well known fact that for years he has confined himself to the study and treatment of Sexual and Chronic Diseases, thus giving him advantages few possess. Dr Vanmonciscar addresses himself particularly to those who have already tried various physicians and remedies from whom they have received no benefits and who in fact have done them more harm than good. Medicine like all other sciences is progressive and every year shows [illegible] of its advance. By a combination of remedies of great curative power Dr Vanmonciscar has so arranged his treatment that it will afford not only immediate relief but permanent cures.

Young Men who are suffering from the effects of youthful indiscretion, showing some of the following symptoms: Nervous and Physical Debility, Impotency (mental and physical), Lost Manhood, Absence of the system, Exhausted Vitality, Confusion of Ideas, Dull and [illegible] of Brilliancy to the Eye, Aversion to Society, Despondency, Pimples on the Face, Loss of Energy and [illegible] of Urinating. You may [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the first stages [illegible] moment that has made days a drudgery and nights hideous. Thousands upon thousands of men are to-day standing in the social world, all promising [illegible] in the world, are to-day suffering from the fruits of their doing, the seeds of which were sown during a moment of thoughtlessness. Young man, can you gaze upon thy companion or seek their honor for proofs to substantiate this fact? Oh, could he control the arm of Fate or had he his life to live over again, then I could not appeal to you more sincerely. Let your mind wander back to the much cherished counsels of a loving father and remember what you are to lay. Though you may for the present fill your station in society, the time is as inevitable as fate when your brilliancy will, like a flash, depart, leaving you a stranded wreck—desolate, forgotten and lost. So embrace the opportunity and enjoy life and happiness longer. If you claim to be a man, act your part manly. Do not console yourself with the thought that Nature will help itself, for in doing so you not only fan the flame, but wreck Nature and yourself. Remember, large oaks from little acorns grow. Little things germinate fatal diseases.

Middle-aged Men, married or single, who are prematurely old as a result of excesses or youthful follies and who are troubled by too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a depleting of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for, [illegible] but one personal interview in all cases preferred. Patients treated by mail. Call or address [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Office hours [illegible] A M to [illegible] P M.
